Action Information
Description: The 50 to 70 gallon transformer oil spill migrated down the gravel/dirt driveway towards the street. By time it reached the street most of the oil is presumed to have been absorbed by the gravel/dirt. A ditch is running in front of the property and acts as a surface water channel. Water was flowing constantly in this ditch and there was no oil observed within the ditch. The ditch eventually joins another ditch. The second ditch was evaluated and no oil was observed in this ditch either. The water flow was chased further down the flow path and no oil was observed. A contractor is en route to clean up the contaminated gravel/soil.
